We are pleased to launch the seventh edition of our Industry Multiples in Latin America (LATAM) quarterly report. This report provides valuable insights into trading multiples for various key industries in LATAM as of June 30, 2024. Our analysis uses publicly traded companies in Latin America, across different industries and sectors, following the definitions by the Global Industry Classification Standard (GICS).

According to the S&P Global Ratings (S&P) Economic Outlook Emerging Markets report released in June 2024, real economic growth in LATAM is forecasted to moderate to 1.2% in 2024 from an estimated 1.8% in 2023.¹ According to S&P, growth expectations for the region remain modest, in line with its previous forecasts, partly due to the negative prospects in Argentina, as the fiscal adjustment made by the new Argentine administration is expected to result in a GDP contraction this year. Excluding Argentina, S&P projects real growth in LATAM to reach 2.0% in 2024. Likewise, the World Bank, in its Global Economic Prospects report released in June 2024, also expects growth in the region to weaken in 2024. The World Bank expects growth to pick up in 2025 as interest rates normalize and inflation decelerates further.²

According to S&P data, inflation peaked for most countries in the region in 2023 and is expected to decline in 2024, with inflation in most countries expected to fall within or close to their respective central bank target rates. One notable exception is Argentina, which is facing a highly uncertain environment. Inflation in Argentina is expected to reach an average of approximately 250% in 2024 before it starts declining in 2025 and thereafter, albeit to still very high rates.

In 2023, the S&P 500, the STOXX® Europe 600 and the STOXX® Latin America Total Market Index (STOXX LATAM TMI) indices increased by approximately 24%, 13% and 20%. 3 In the first semester of 2024, the S&P 500, STOXX Europe 600 and STOXX LATAM TMI changed +14%, +7% and -13%, respectively.

In terms of EV/EBITDA, during the second quarter of 2024, median multiples have generally decreased across all sectors. Notable declines were observed in the capital goods and materials industries, while information technology saw an increase in multiple. For capital goods companies, the median multiple decreased in the second quarter to 6.5x from 8.3x in the first quarter. For companies within materials, the median multiple decreased in the second quarter to 6.0x from 7.3x in the first quarter. On the other hand, for information technology companies, the median multiple increased to 14.0x in the second quarter from 11.0x in the first quarter.

³ The STOXX LATAM TMI covers approximately 95% of the free-float market capitalization of LATAM companies.

Foreword (cont'd)

Our report provides a detailed overview of the EV/revenues, EV/EBITDA, P/E and P/B multiples of publicly traded companies in LATAM covering nonfinancial industries and market capitalization/revenues, P/TBV and P/E and P/B multiples covering financial industries for which such data is available. We also provide an eight-quarter lookback at the trends of these multiples for the industries covered.

We hope you find this report helpful in understanding the range of trading multiples for major industries in LATAM. If you would like to receive further information or discuss any of the findings, please contact us.

Electric, Gas and Water Utilities

Criteria

- For all reported multiples, we have considered Latin American companies that were publicly traded as of this report's reference date (data sourced from Capital IQ). Companies were grouped by sectors, industry groups or industries, as defined by the Global Industry Classification Standard, considering that each grouping would have enough constituents and granularity to attain the objective of this report.¹
- Companies are only considered in the computation of the different multiples if the following criteria are met: market capitalization is above the 10th percentile, free float is at least 20%, and average daily volume is above 0.1% of the float (data derived from Capital IQ and Bloomberg databases).
- Observations deemed to be outliers have been excluded from the above analysis. Outlier criteria include: (i) negative multiples, (ii) multiples below the fifth percentile and (iii) multiples above the 95th percentile.
- EV = Enterprise Value = Market value of equity plus book value of debt, minority interests, preferred stock, less cash and cash equivalents, loans and notes receivables, and long- and short-term investments.² Revenues = Revenue for the latest 12 months. EBITDA = Earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization for the latest 12 months (provided by Capital IQ, adjusted for non-recurring items). P/E = Share price divided by earnings per share on a diluted basis. P/B = Share price/book value per share equals total book value of equity divided by diluted number of shares. P/TBV = Share price/book value minus intangible assets, per share on a diluted basis.
- Multiples have been computed in companies' filing currencies.
- Capital IQ data was sourced on September 2, 2024.

¹The GICS structure is comprised of 11 sectors, 25 industry groups, 76 industries and 170 sub-industries.

²Book value of debt includes lease liabilities.
